

✗	✓
1. I see my friends quite often because of they are fun to be with.	I see my friends quite often because of they are fun to be with.  'because' goes with a noun phrase 'because' is followed by subject then verb
2. I like when he cooks for me.	I like it when he cooks for me.
3. I visit a gym 3 times a week.	I go to the gym 3 times a week.  we also say:  go to the cinema   pub   theatre
4. I listen BBC news every morning.	I listen to the BBC news every morning.
5. I can't come now, I'm taking care about the children.	I can't come now, I'm taking care of the children.  care about someone or something but take care of
6. He made so big mistake that I'm surprised he still has a job.	He made such a big mistake that I'm surprised he still has a job.
7. According an article I read in the 'Prague Times', there are now 7 billion people on Earth.	According to an article I read in the 'Prague Times', there are now 7 billion people on Earth.
8. I spoke to him few days ago.	I spoke to him a few days ago.  Do you know what the difference is between 'few' and 'a few'?
9. I have a lot of respect to Steve Jobs and what he did.	I have a lot of respect for Steve Jobs and what he did.  have respect for someone  other phrases with 'respect' include:

10. I think the economy will worsen in the close future.	pay your respects to someone with respect to the economy,... I think the economy will worsen in the near future.  (Opposite is 'distant future')
11. If you look to the situation in Washington, you'll see that...	If you look at the situation in Washington, you'll see that...
12. His car has gone - he must went home.	12. His car has gone - he must have gone home. When you are speculating now about something which may have happened in the past, we use: Modal verb + HAVE + past participle eg I think he must have gone home. eg He wouldn't have done it.
13. She spent a lot of money for clothing.	She spent a lot of money on clothing. Spend money on something
14. Most of people at the event were quite bored.	Most of people at the event were quite bored.
15. When I eat some chocolate, I then have a good mood.	When I eat some chocolate, I'm then in a good mood. Be in a good/bad mood